Specialty Materials from Celanese for Medical Device Suppliers Showcased at DDL 26 Forum

DALLAS and EDINBURGH, Scotland (December 8, 2015) - Celanese Corporation (NYSE: CE), a global technology and specialty materials company, invites attendees of the Drug Delivery to the Lungs Forum (DDL 26) to visit with its medical technology polymer experts December 9-11, 2015 in the Edinburgh International Conference Center, Scotland, UK, to learn about the company's broad portfolio of high quality, medical grade engineering polymers.

"Celanese has for years been a leading, global engineered materials supplier to the medical device market," said Wendy Johnson, medical marketing manager for Celanese. "We continue to expand our engineered polymers portfolio to deliver innovative material solutions that are improving the experience of the end-user and meeting the growing demands of medical suppliers worldwide."

Celanese will be showcasing its Hostaform® MT® SlideX™ POM product, a thermoplastic polymer that is an excellent low-friction solution for the following applications:

- pressurized Metered Dose Inhalers (pMDIs)
- dry powder inhalers
- spray pumps

"Studies show that patients are more likely to comply with medication regimens when using medical devices that are comfortable and easy to use," said Johnson. "Celanese provides quality medical polymers to help our customers develop devices with patient needs in mind and improve the user experience."

Celanese materials experts will be meeting with attendees at DDL 26 in booth 96 to discuss their latest project challenges and medical device innovations. For more information on Celanese Hostaform® MT® SlideX™ POM, visit <http://celanese.com/webinars>.
