CTPAT Statement of Support

Celanese International Corporation, hereinafter referred to as Celanese, is dedicated to the security of our nation's borders and supports a comprehensive supply chain security program.

Since 2010 Celanese has been a member of Customs Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (CTPAT), a voluntary United States Customs and Border Protection business initiative that strengthens international supply chains and border security by working with the trade community.

As a CTPAT partner, Celanese works with Customs Border Patrol to protect the supply chain, identify security gaps, and implement best practices. We encourage our business partners to participate in the CTPAT program. For business partners who are not CTPAT certified, Celanese requires minimum security criteria be achieved to demonstrate compliance appropriate to their business.

Supply Chain Security impacts every department in our organization and our business partners' organizations. At Celanese we promote a culture which supports security awareness and participation. Our business partner selection depends heavily on a commitment to security so that we can continue an active role in ensuring a safe and secure supply chain.

We are pleased to work with customs border patrol and our business partners to promote a safe a secure supply chain.

Sincerely,
